TRUMAN ON TRIAL IN "NUMBERS" CASE

KIN OF MISSING HEIRESS ASK TO BE LEFT ALONE

Urge Police To Stay Away in Hope of Making Contact With Supposed Kidnaper.

GUEN AWAIT ORDERS

Husband Waits Nervously at Telephone for Call To Establish Contact.

By The Associated Press

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 11—In an atmosphere of increasing unrest the husband and wealthy relatives of Mrs. Alice McDonell Parsons, socially prominent Long Island heiress, made a new plea today to be left alone in their efforts to contact supposed kidnapers of the 45-year old matron.

The request was voiced by Roy Mitchell, brother of the woman missing since Wednesday forenoon.

"We would appreciate it if you would stay away entirely," he told a Brookhaven township policeman, who dropped in at the white colonial home at dawn. "After all, we're the ones trying to make some contact."

Rain Drenches Area

Rain drenched the rolling north shore countryside, and there were few signs of activity around the estate.

Ten miles away in Stony Brook harbor federal officers awaited word from J. Edgar Hoover, their chief reported enroute to take personal command of the investigation.

A coast guard seaplane came to anchor in a nearby cove of Long Island sound this morning, and a man reported to resemble Hoover, came ashore. The federal chief left Washington last night after a day of telephoning communication with aides men working on the case.

Throughout the night, William H. Parsons, gentleman poultry farmer and Yale graduate, waited nervously, hopeful each time the telephone rang that he would get word from his wife or her abductors.

Parsons, his eyes red from lack of sleep and his face drawn, went about his farm duties this morning automatically.

He talked to reporters who went to the house after abstaining from visits throughout the night, in deference to the family's wishes to give the kidnapers a chance to make contact.

"I am in a jam, an awful jam," Parsons said.

Someone asked him what he meant.

Does Not Explain

"I am in a jam," he repeated, shaking his head. "An awful jam."

But he declined to discuss this statement further.

He declined to reply to a query whether a second ransom note had been received. A report went around the town that such a note was received, setting forth anew the demands for $25,000 and giving instructions as to when and where and how it was to be paid.

The original ransom note, found Wednesday several hours after Mrs. Parsons disappeared, demanded $25,000 and included a threat of possible harm to the prematurely gray-haired Mrs. Parsons.

Parsons again shook his head.

MARION WATER RATE HEARING POSTPONED

Continued to June 23 To Give Engineers More Time for Appraisal.

Hearing of the rate controversy between the city and the Marion Water Co. by the state utilities commission has been postponed until the commission's appraisal and audit of the company plant. The Associated Press reported today from Columbus. The hearing had been set originally for June 16.

Commission engineers have been in Marion since May 13 making an appraisal of property to help guide the commission in making its final decision. The commission ordered the reappraisal May 12 when it was brought out at a hearing in Columbus that the city had not obtained an appraisal.

The city is asking a 12½ per cent reduction in water rates, a decrease which the company asserts would be "unfair and confiscatory."

GIRL KILLED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Miss Evelyn Almendinger, Formerly of Prospect, Dies Instantly Near Johnstown.

FUNERAL AT PROSPECT

Accident Occurs as Auto and Truck Collide on Narrow Bridge.

Miss Evelyn Almendinger, 16, of Johnstown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Almendinger, who formerly lived at Prospect, was killed instantly in an automobile-truck collision Wednesday night at a bridge one-half mile west of Johnstown.

The funeral will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Lutheran church in Prospect, followed by burial in the Prospect cemetery. A short service will be conducted at 1 p. m. at the home in Johnstown. Rev. Paul Dobberstein, pastor of the Prospect Lutheran church, will officiate.

Miss Almendinger suffered a fractured skull and crushed chest. Three other young people in the car, Anna Louise Green, James Needles and John Cook Jr., all of near Johnstown, were taken to Mt. Carmel hospital in Columbus.

Cook, with whom the former Prospect girl was riding in the rear seat of the car owned by the father of the Needles boy, suffered the loss of two fingers on his left hand. Miss Green and Needles, in the front seat, escaped with minor injuries.

The Needles car was struck by the trailer of a loaded truck as the car was about to enter a one-way drive bridge, according to a news report from Johnstown. One side of the car was demolished.

The accident was investigated by the state highway patrol and sheriff's office and an inquest was started yesterday by Licking County Coroner G. W. Sapp.

The trailer-truck was owned by W. T. and Wayne D. Weltzel of Canfield and was loaded with steel. It was driven by Russell Stouffer of Canfield, accompanied by Carl West.

Miss Almendinger was a junior in the Johnstown High school. Besides her parents she leaves a brother, Mark, of Johnstown, three sisters, Mrs. Ellen Ashbrook of Johnstown, Bessie at home, and Mrs. Nellie Davis of Richwood, and her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Difany of Prospect. A brother Glen was killed in a gas explosion six years ago at Harpster.

Two aunts live in Marion, Mrs. Paul Kyle of Carhart street and Mrs. Glen Toms of South State street.

Mr. and Mrs. Almendinger operate a hatchery and cream station in Johnstown.

DRIVER SENTENCED TO 10 DAYS IN JAIL

C. D. McClung, 37, of 993 North State street, pleaded guilty at an arraignment in municipal court yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to the county jail for 10 days and his driving rights were revoked for six months by Municipal Judge Martin. McClung was arrested Wednesday about 4:30 p. m. by police near the north city limits on state route 23.

750 Pontiac Auto Workers Turn Back 10 Miles from Steel Mill Town After Planning Parade in Protest Against Routing of Strike Pickets.

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 11—Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio called principals to the wide steel strike to his mansion for peace conferences at 2 p. m. (E. S. T.) but more trouble loomed on the labor front.

The Steel Workers Organizing Committee called a strike for 12 p. m. (E. S. T.) in the huge Johnstown, Pa., Cambria mill of Bethlehem Steel to bolster a walkout on a Bethlehem subsidiary railroad.

David Watkins, SWOC sub-regional director, estimated 12,000 of the 19,000 employes in Bethlehem's vast Cambria mill would be affected by the strike order. Other plants of Bethlehem, which have refused to sign a CIO contract and is generally believed to be next on the Lewis union's list, were not affected by the order.

Wants Trouble Averted

Representatives of all sides were summoned by Gov. Davey to meet this afternoon in his office in the mansion to avert "grave potentialities."

Hopes for immediate peace, however, were admittedly slim. Sources close to both sides said they remained determined in their positions—the companies that they would bargain in conferences with the SWOC but would not sign a contract, the union that a contract must be signed.

Philip Murray, national chairman of Lewis' militant steel unit, and John Owens, Ohio CIO director, were to represent the union. Tom Girdler, Republic board chairman, and Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube, declined to attend personally but agreed to send representatives.

There were J. A. Voss, industrial relations director for Republic, the nation's third-largest producer; R. M. Welsh, assistant to Purnell, and J. C. Argetsinger, vice president and general council, for Sheet & Tube, Inland, the other big independent producer locked in a conflict which has choked one-sixth of the $5,000,000,000 industry's production, has no Ohio plants.

Bethlehem Next Target

Bethlehem Steel, second-largest producer in the nation, was generally believed to be the next target of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee's year-old drive to unionize the steel industry—a drive which a Chicago SWOC official said had cost more than $1,300,000 to enroll 700,000 steel workers in near the Newton Steel Co. rolling mill here last night.

From eight to 20 persons were injured in the skirmish between some 200 officers and special police who laid down a tear gas bar-

2 FROM MARYSVILLE DIE AFTER COLLISION

Wife of Former State Lawmaker Killed; Daughter in Serious Condition.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—Mrs. Alice Wilber, 57, and Mrs. Ada Cartmell, 73, both of Marysville, died in a hospital here today of injuries suffered Thursday in an automobile collision near Milford Center.

Georgianna Wilber, 20, daughter of one of the victims, was in a serious condition from concussion and lacerations. Her father is former State Rep. George M. Wilber, known as a specialist in the rearing of "hot-house" lambs.

The three were in a headon crash between the car they were riding in and a large transport truck, seven miles southwest of Marysville, about 6:30 p. m. Thursday. The truck caught on fire but was extinguished.

Mrs. Wilber and Mrs. Cartmell were removed to University hospital in Columbus after receiving medical attention at the office of Drs. John and Dean Boylan at Milford Center. Miss Wilber was kept at the Boylan hospital during the night. Mrs. Wilber, who was driving her machine, suffered a fractured left limb above the knee, an injured chest and lacerations across her face above the nose which required thirty stitches. Mrs. Cartmell suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and a severe laceration of that leg almost the full extent of the limb. Miss Wilber suffered concussion from a severe laceration across her forehead and an injury to her right arm. John Belsner, 25, Pennville, Ind., truck driver, escaped with bruises.

The accident happened at the Treacles bridge, on route 4, two miles southwest of Milford Center. According to Belsner, the big transport truck, hauling ten-ton of tile to an Indiana destination, was about two-thirds through the narrow bridge when Mrs. Wilber's car skidded on the wet pavement directly into the path of the truck.

Youth's Study Of Nature As Hobby Leads Him To Vocation

Tramps Fields To Learn About Destructive Bugs He Hopes To Help Eradicate.

BY BOB BYRD

A 16-YEAR-OLD Marion boy who began a systematic study of nature as a hobby and now intends to make it his life's work learns his lesson more from the field than from textbooks.

He is Owen C. Meddles, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Meddles of 506 South Prospect street who, despite his youthfulness, has devoted nine years to the study of nature by spending many hours out of doors.

Meddles prefers to devote most of his study hours in the open rather than in reading textbooks, convinced that familiarity with nature impresses lessons on the mind even more firmly than the mere ability to recite pages of facts about various forms of wild life. Either from the standpoint of making nature study a hobby or a business, Meddles likes to get his information first hand.

A determination to join in the constant effort being made throughout the country to halt the destruction caused annually by insects made Meddles think of becoming a naturalist by profession.

Meddles proposes to join forces with the hundreds of government entomologists and scientists who have been trying to exterminate destructive insects by importing their natural enemies. He believes that this method of controlling insects is the most effective, and sees as the first great task in the movement the job of making America "insect conscious."

Definite Ideas on Subject

He has some definite ideas about how that could be accomplished. Bringing into play some of the methods of argument he used in winning a high school numeral in debate at Harding High school, where he will be a junior next year, Meddles asserted that although the idea of small insects causing damage doesn't have much natural appeal to the general public, there is enough spectacular material in the realm of insects and worms to interest the public in the story of how bugs are becoming a greater menace.

"You see," he demonstrated, "I can make the average person pretty conscious of worm damage by showing him this fellow"—he held up a bottle containing a worm about three inches long and nearly half an inch in diameter. "People readily realize that a worm this size can eat a lot in its short life span, and that they could cause heavy damage in a garden. That gives me an opportunity to tell them that tiny insects that go unnoticed in everyday life cause many times more damage every day than all of these big fellows."

Meddles uses the same salesmanship in showing friends the collection he has built up in his study of nature. "These big moths that are common around here but are

RED GENERALS GO ON TRIAL

Eight Once High Army Officers Before Court as Traitors to Soviet.

FACE SWIFT EXECUTION

Third Great Russian Treason Case in Less Than Year; All Plead Guilty.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 11—Eight once-trusted red army generals were called to secret trial today as acknowledged traitors to Soviet Russia, conspirators with an enemy power.

They face swift execution without the right of appeal, under the law. An official communique said every one had pleaded guilty.

A military tribunal heard them behind locked doors at a secret meeting place, and the Russian press called them "black traitors." Fascist spies" who schemed to wrest the soil from the peasants and the factories from the workers.

The trial, the third great treason case in less than a year, differed from the others in that the generals were not accused of "Trotskyism."

Sixteen who were shot last August and the 13 last January were convicted of conspiring for a counter-revolution with Leon Trotsky.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, proclaimed no mercy would be shown and that there would be no delay in "getting the defendants before a firing squad."

The arrest and prosecution of the generals, the newspaper said, attested the strength and invincibility of the Soviet regime by proving it could track down traitors even in high places.

The editorial did not specify to which foreign power the men were supposed to have offered military secrets, but it eliminated all except Germany and Japan, allies in an anti-Communist treaty.

It said the generals were ordered "by their masters" to use any device to break the Soviet army's power and wreck its defensive strength. It did not, however, cite any specific evidence against the men.

The newspaper, Red Star, official Russian army publication, said:

"They wanted to restore the Soviet union to a reign of the club and the whip. They will feel deserved punishment from the heavy hand of Soviet justice."

The panel of defendants does not include all commanders known to have been arrested. Two generals, Schmidt, and Klimitchiff, are known to have been imprisoned since August, 1936, and it is believed there may be others.

Most conspicuous of those summoned to trial today was Marshal Michail Nikolaevitch Tukhachevsky, one of the five marshals of the red army. He was vice-commissar of war until last May 11 and was banished from command of the Volga military garrison only the day before yesterday.

FIRST TO FACE CHARGE AFTER RAID APRIL 28

Police on Stand In Effort To Link Grill Operator With Racket Here.

MARKS TELLS OF RAID

Testifies Concerning Initials "S. W. T." Found on Coin Wrappers on Park Blvd.

S. W. (Slim) Truman went on trial in municipal court this morning on a charge that he "unlawfully did set foot and promenade as backer a scheme of chance known as the numbers game." As the court proceedings opened Truman entered a plea of not guilty to the charge.

Truman is one of 10 persons arrested by police in a raid on a Park boulevard residence, alleged headquarters of the number racket, on April 28. Today's arraignment of Truman and beginning of the trial were the first developments growing out of the raid with the exception of the filing of charges shortly after the raid.

Police Chief William R. Marks, the first witness called by the city, indicated in his testimony that some of the city's strongest points of evidence seeking to link Truman with the numbers game are:

(1) Coin wrappers among those found at the numbers headquarters at 430 Park boulevard where nine of the 10 persons arrested were taken into custody bore the initials "S. W. T."

(2) Truman was seen by police to leave the nefarious grill which he operates on West Center street and take Miss Anna Weichell, one of the arrested persons, to the Park boulevard residence in his automobile. He then left and returned uptown where he later was arrested on the street.

(3) Papers found at the Park boulevard address included receipts for merchandise that had been delivered to the Saratoga Grill.

Chief Marks testified to all of these points, and also gave a detailed account of the raid itself and of the objects seized by police as they staged a "sit-down" raid, arresting the nine persons as they came to the Park boulevard address one at a time.

Up until 3 p. m. today, Truman's attorneys had not disclosed their course of defense. They had not cross examined any of the witnesses and would not indicate what witnesses they might call.

The only indication of possible defense strategy was a motion made early this morning that the case be dropped, contending the charge as outlined in the affidavit does not constitute a criminal offense.

Other Police Called

Chief Marks was one of four witnesses called by the city this morning, and in each instance Truman's attorneys did not cross examine. The other witnesses were Police Capt. Ora DeWees who was still on the stand at the noon recess and Patrolmen Fred Norton and Louis Kirts.

As the trial opened with Judge William R. Martin on the bench, Police Chief Marks, the prosecuting witness in the case, sat with City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart. On the other side of the counsel table were Truman, his attorneys, Paul D. Smith of Marion and W. B. Bartels of Columbus, Roy M. King of Columbus, a court stenographer, made a shorthand record of the proceedings, and approximately 20 persons sat in the gallery during the morning session.

Chief Marks' testimony took up most of the morning session. He said he had received numerous complaints of Truman's operation

POLITICAL PRETENSE AND SHAM HIT BY LIPPMANN

Brilliant Writer of "New School" Added to Staff of Star.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Walter Lippmann, famed editor and news commentator whose column will appear in The Star three days a week beginning next week, is best known, perhaps, for his political work. Much of the brilliance of The New York World's editorial page in its later years was due to his facile and analytical pen. His editorials have been a power in the land—reprinted and fought over.

In "A Preface to Morals," he wrote, "There is a new school of political reporters who, with a kind of beautiful cruelty, are making it embarrassing for politicians to employ their old tricks." Walter Lippmann himself is one of the new school.

Lippmann, whose column "Today and Tomorrow," is read by some seven million persons, is officially a "special writer for the New York Herald-Tribune." The emphasis is on the word "writer." He writes—never types, rarely dictates—his columns.

He writes microscopically, a sharp, slanting, angular longhand, which is his special shorthand developed to meet his need for fast writing. There are no abbreviations. But it takes a trained eye.

To get a clear insight into current events and to understand their significance, be a constant reader of Mr. Lippmann's comments in The Star, beginning next week.

ROOSEVELT OKAYS TAX DODGING PROBE

Signs Resolution Calling for Broad Inquiry by Six from Each House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—President Roosevelt signed today a resolution authorizing a broad congressional inquiry into tax dodging.

The investigation will be conducted by a joint congressional committee of six senators and six representatives yet to be named. It will have authority, on majority vote, to make public many secrets of wealthy taxpayers whom the administration charges are evading and avoiding payments.

At about the same time the President signed the resolution, Rep. Fish, Republican of New York, suggested on the house floor that the committee should look into the income tax return of President Roosevelt.

Fish said he had been informed on reliable authority that Mr. Roosevelt had deducted the losses on his so-called farm at Hyde Park in my district, which is not a farm but a palatial residence."

Fish said if the committee was going to investigate anyone, "I suggest it investigate him."

Treasury officials disclosed they have compiled a secret list of wealthy persons who they contend have dodged federal income taxes.

They said the names will be handed to a congressional committee when hearings start in an investigation of tax evasion and avoidance, probably next week.

Officials were silent regarding the identity of men and women on the list, but informed persons said it was dotted with names high in the business and financial world.

The investigating committee will decide whether to make public individual tax cases. When names are disclosed, the individuals are expected to be called for testimony.

"THE HIT PARADE" ON PALACE SCREEN THROUGH SATURDAY

Frances Langford, Phil Regan, and a host of top-notch radio and screen entertainers made the Palace musical film, "The Hit Parade," showing through Saturday. Augmenting the feature entertainment are an Our Gang comedy, "Three Smart Boys," a Lowell Thomas short, "Going Places," and a newsreel.

"The Hit Parade," was made by one of the fairly new producing companies, and it's a bright and shining bit of fare. Three orchestras vie, Carl Hoff and his Hit Parade orchestra, Duke Ellington and his band—which has played on the Palace stage—and Eddy Duchin's band. The cast reads like a log of radio's best: Al Pearce and His Gang, Molasses and January, the Voice of Experience, Ed Thorgersen, the Tic Toc Girls and Oscar and Elmer, to mention a few.

A light plot carries the comedy along. Suffice to say it has to do with an enterprising young press agent's attempts to star a beautiful but unknown radio singer. Regan is the press agent and Miss Langford is the girl. Appearances of the entertainers is logical, weaving in with the story. The story moves along at a fast pace with Louise Henry, Pert Kelton, Edward Brophy, Max Terhune, Inez Courtney, Monroe Owsley, Stanley Fields, Johnny Arthur, J. Farrell McDonald and George Givot turning in performances backing up the work of Miss Langford and Regan.

Dicky Punishes Boys by Refusing to Let Them Take Boat Out Alone.

NEVER HAVE I seen such blessed relief mirrored in any eyes as I saw in those of Junior and Roderick as they realized that Dicky was not continuing his line of questioning about the reason for their fight in the boat. I knew that no punishment he could devise would appear heavy to them once they were freed from the fear of having to reveal the real reason for their warfare.

The knowledge that they had escaped the thing they so dreaded made their voices almost blithe as they chorused their answer to Dicky's query as to how they were to be punished.

"You ought to lick us good," Junior said, and Roderick echoed the suggestion.

"Yes, a good whaling is what we ought to have," he said almost complacently.

Dicky's eyes narrowed.

"You're altogether too willing for a whipping," he said. "That shows me how foolish it would be to whip you when there must be other punishments that you dread more. I'm going to do something to make you remember this performance for the rest of your lives."

Fear Punishment.

There was lively dread in their eyes now, and I guessed that they were visioning possibilities which they distinctly did not like.

"You have acted like babies or idiots, or insane persons," Dicky went on relentlessly. "No matter how angry some people get, they do not do things which risk their own lives and those of other people. For that reason, you can not be treated any longer as sensible persons.

"We thought," he said, clipping his words, "that you could be trusted with a boat. We see now how mistaken we were."

There was a sound like a moan from both boys as they realized what part of their punishment was to be.

"It probably will be years before we can feel safe in letting you out in a boat alone again," Dicky said, piling horror upon horror. "And, furthermore, for the rest of the time you are up here, neither of you is to be permitted to do anything or go anywhere, alone. Either Bill, Hank, Mr. Williams or Aunt Katherine, or"—he hesitated—"Mr. or Mrs. Gibbs, is to be with you every time you stir out-of-doors."

Despair in Faces.

Across their faces swept a look of such blank despair that I caught my breath and tried to signal to Dicky. He did not need my signal, however, for he, too, had caught that look in their eyes.

"On second thought," he said, "I don't see why we need to let outsiders in on this. I'm not particularly anxious to have the Gibbses know what utter idiots you two have turned out to be. See to it that you don't tell Betty anything that happened, or how you're being punished, and we'll manage some explanation of why somebody always has to be with you."

The despair in their faces lightened perceptibly, but they plainly were appalled at the magnitude of their punishment.

I guessed that the keenest zest out along came from the chance it gave them to show off before young Betty Gibbs. With that gone life, to them, was dust and ashes, indeed.

"Couldn't we go home to the farm?" Junior ventured after a silence.

Dicky shook his head inexorably.

"I'm afraid not," he said. "That wouldn't be any punishment, because you do not expect to take boats out there, or do the things you have been permitted to do here. Now, every time you see a boat, or look at other boys your age fishing by themselves, or doing other things which you are kept from doing, as if you were tiny children, you will remember what you did today, and will perhaps learn what an awful thing you did. By the time you are ready to go home, you will have the lesson so well learned, I hope, that it won't have to be repeated next year."

He turned to Bill and Hank, dismissing the boys as if they were not present.

"It's a shame to put a nursemaid's job on you two," he said, while the faces of Junior and Roderick turned a brick red, "but I don't see what else we're to do. Your Aunt Madge and I have to go down home in a few days, and somebody will have to ride herd on these kids every minute. They've got to have somebody trailing them every minute."

—• The •— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

RICH GIRL, POOR GIRL—

Nobody is ever astonished, when a Dollar Princess, with the millions to buy a string of titles, sadly trades in one title for another, in the hope of finding a heart attached to it—as has happened several times recently.

In the search for love too much money is a girl's heaviest handicap. Did you ever hear of a king renouncing his throne for a rich girl? Never! It is always the "beggar maid" who captures King Cophetua.

There is no truth in the old aphorism that it is as easy for a man to love a rich girl as to love a poor one. It is infinitely harder. Because, somehow, instead of brightening up a woman's charms, a background of gold seems merely to dim them to the point of invisibility. Her fortune so dazzles a man that, no matter how beautiful and glamorous she is, he scarcely sees her.

Of course, there have been poor-but-honest young men who have fallen desperately and sincerely in love with million-dollar-heiresses and married them for love—just as there have been snowstorms in May and roses in December. But, by and large, a poor girl's chances are ten to the rich girl's one of getting a faithful, devoted Prince Charming.

When a man marries a girl who hasn't even a big job and a fat salary check to sustain her, it must be for love. Because he is practically signing up to keep his note to the grindstone for the rest of his life, and his only reward is—the girl!

Besides, a man has so much more opportunity to get a close-up of a girl who is not barricaded by moneybags, butlers, chauffeurs and conventions. Almost any girl looks so much more attractive, when she is fussing around a garden, in cheap slacks and a sun-hat, than she does when she is on "dress parade" in a night club or at a formal party. And when his mind is not on Bradstreet's, he has more time to enjoy her wit; and the lovableness and sweetness of her character are not surpassed by the sweetness of her Daddy's "sugar."

There is no blazing background and no glitter of gold dollars to blind him to the sparkle in her eyes or the flash of her smile. She doesn't have to live up to half-a-dozen closets full of clothes—and her jewels don't outshine her dimples.

That is why the girl who was not born with a golden spoon in her mouth usually cops the prize husband; while the poor-little-rich-girl so often goes on changing coronets and cresta in the futile quest for romance.

So, don't envy the Dollar Princess—it was Cinderella who caught the King. And that's no fairy story!

MRS. MARS ENTERS THREE FOR LATONIA

By The Associated Press

COVINGTON, Ky., June 11—With the assurance from Trainer Bob McGarvey that Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way stable would have three entries for Saturday's Latonia Derby, a dozen entries were almost certain today to go to the post.

In event of a heavy track, McGarvey pinned his hopes on Mrs. Mars' Reaping Reward, a Kentucky Derby money horse. The stable's other two horses, which he said would be starters are Military and Murph, although No Boy has been assigned the latter.

Another Kentucky Derby starter, Heelfly, from the Three D's storm farm, was a sure starter in the 55th running of the Northern Kentucky classic for the $15,000 added purse.

ADMITS HOAX

Confessing that her story of being used as a lure in an attempt to kidnap John Rockefeller Prentice, Chicago lawyer and grandson of the late John D. Rockefeller, was just a hoax, Margaret Montgomery admitted that her scheme was inspired by jealousy. Although she at first maintained that two men had forced her to call Prentice and arrange a date with him, intending to abduct him, she later broke down and admitted that she had fabricated the whole story because of fear of losing his friendship.

HACKNEY TO MEET EX-MYSTERY MAN

Wolfe scored the final fall in five minutes.

The Kenaston-Montgomery match should be a rousing affair, judging from the near riot incited by Montgomery as he roughed his way to a win over Tiger Moore last week. A gentleman in the dressing room but a rowdy in the ring, Kenaston likes nothing better than a tough scrap. He's due for a full share of entertainment which should be to his own liking when he faces Montgomery.

The ex-marine usually refrains from rough stuff, but on occasion, when he is pushed to the breaking point, he can mix it up with the toughest. Marion fans will be out to see Montgomery get taken for a one way ride and that's just what is likely to happen if Kenaston is able to hand his opponent the now famous airplane spin and 10 height body slam.

RECORD OHIO WHEAT CROP IS FORECAST

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—The largest winter wheat crop for Ohio since 1931 and the second highest since 1919 was forecast today by the federal-state crop reporting service. A record rye crop also was predicted.

The June 1 forecast for winter wheat was 50,204,000 bushels. The May 1 prediction had been for 46,531,000 bushels, but the report said great improvement had been noted during the month in all of the state's grain fields.

Glenn S. Ray, agricultural statistician, said that there was a possibility the wheat crop would exceed the 1931 record crop of 53,505,000 bushels.

The report on rye forecast a yield of 783,000 bushels compared with 702,000 last year and an average production of 731,000 bushels.

No estimate on the production of spring grains will be made until July 1.

Hay and pasture lands also showed considerable improvement, the crop report showed. Milk production averaged 20.3 pounds on June first which was ahead of both last year's and the 1928-34 average.

Ray said that there were indications the fruit crop would return to normal following the poorest production in history last year.

Apple production was placed at 84 per cent of normal, compared to 26 per cent on June 1 last year; peaches gave promise of 1,476,000 bushels compared with 104,000 in 1936 and a five-year average of 1,050,000. Predictions for pears and cherries also were far ahead of last year.

CANTON MEN UNITE TO KEEP THE PEACE

Reliable men only will be recruited by the committee and turned over to the sheriff and chief of police. The recruits will be paid the same wage scale now prevailing in the two departments and term of service will be 30 days or longer as the necessity may demand.

Several days will be required to select, appoint and equip the men.

FATHER AND SON DOOMED

Anthony Di Stasio (left) and his father, Frank, were doomed by the supreme court of Massachusetts to die in the electric chair for the murder of Daniel Crowley, in Boston, in 1935. The father had been convicted of murder in the first degree. The court, at Revere, Mass., upheld the son's conviction as an accessory. Only executive clemency can save them.

TRUMAN FACES COURT IN "NUMBERS" TRIAL

of the numbers game prior to April 28, when the raid was made, and that on that date at 12:07 p. m. he put into action a raid he had planned. He said he left police station at that time, picked up four policemen and drove to Foster lane which runs along one side of the 450 Park boulevard residence where the raid was made. He said he unloaded the car and Foster lane, dismissed the car and that two of the men went to the front door and three to the rear.

He said those who went to the rear found Mrs. Welchold alone in the house and that they took over the house for the time being and let the other two policemen in the front door. Then began the waiting game that resulted in the arrest of nine persons, one at a time, as they came to the back door of the residence. The city contends they came there to turn in the money and numbers slips they had written for that day.

Chief Marks told how he stationed the men in the house and how successively the nine persons came there and were taken into custody. He described in detail the layout of the basement which included one room which, he said, was equipped as an office with a desk, chairs, adding machine, telephone, coin tubes, envelopes, pencils, stock and bond slips and record books. When defense counsel objected to his naming some of the records as "numbers slips," he read to the court the words written on them and explained the slips had space for two columns of numbers, one headed "bonds" and the other headed "stocks."

Initials on Coin Wrappers

Among the coin tubes, he testified, were: one for $2 worth of nickels bearing the inked initials "S. W. T."; one for 50 pennies with the same inked initials on one side; another for $10 worth of half-dollar pieces with the same initials stamped on; one for $10 worth of half-dollar pieces with the same initials written on in pencil; one for $10 worth of quarters with the same initials in a blue or black pencil.

Chief Marks described a rubber stamp found in the basement and said it provided blank spaces for the name of the player, writer and amounts and exhibited an envelope which apparently had been prepared for a payoff on which the stamp had been used.

He then listed the names of the nine persons taken into custody as they came to the house and gave the time of the arrest of each. On leaving the house about 2:45 after having been there from about 12:25, police discovered a clothes basket near the back door containing some articles of clothing, a green box and a number of records including a memorandum book, the chief testified.

Chief Marks read from the memorandum book a long list of figures under headings of "stocks" and "bonds" for each week day in the first 25 days of March. These numbers ranged from 130 to 949 each day for stocks and from 77 to 960 each day for bonds but read nothing that would indicate whether these represented the dollar volume or number of transactions.

Wins and Loses

On other pages, he read as follows: "April 14—M—705.32; hit—390.52; win—404.52; April 15—M—807.32; hit—734.25; win—73.07; April 16—M—902.48; hits—2,106; lost—1,203.52; April 17—M—905.53; hits—624; win—282.53.

Chief Marks then testified among the other papers in the box were delivery receipts for beer from the Merchants Transfer Co. delivered to the Saratoga Grill on various dates and signed either by Truman or by "Payne." Also in the box, the chief continued, were two cancelled electric power bills for "302 West Center street," the address of the Saratoga Grill. Another record found there was a large ledger entitled, "Daily Statement Book for the Management and Control of Business." The captions for columns of figures listed in the book, he said, included amounts received and paid out daily for beer and wine, liquors, food and merchandise, magazines and newspapers and cigarets.

A section of adding machine tape found there also listed figures "for 1937" showing $67,556.49 in one column, $56,676.51 in another with the notation "lost" beside it, and still another in which the latter figure had been subtracted from the first to show $11,159.98 as "gain."

Huge Pile of Slips

When Chief Marks attempted to identify a large pile of yellow slips, approximately the size of a bank check, objections of defense counsel halted him when he said he could identify them only by the printed matter on them. Six policemen carried the huge pile of slips into the courtroom and dumped them on the table earlier in the trial. The clothes basket and boxes of papers and records were shown in the courtroom.

Patrolman Kirts, second to take the stand, testified he had been detailed to watch the Saratoga Grill on the afternoon of the raid to observe Trumen's movements. He said he saw Truman and Miss Anna Welchold leave the grill about 1:05 and drive away and that he later received telephone instructions to arrest Truman on the streets, which he and Patrolman Norton did.

Patrolman Norton, called next, gave almost identical testimony. Both told of having gone to Truman's office and sleeping room above the grill later, in company with Truman, to search it. Nothing was removed from Truman's rooms, they testified.

Capt. DeWees, one of the four men who accompanied Chief Marks on the Park boulevard raid and later accompanied Patrolmen Norton and Kirts and Truman to the latter's rooms above the grill to make a search, was next called. He testified he made a record of the time each if the nine persons came to the Park boulevard address during the raid and noted the articles removed from them. First to arrive, he testified as Miss Iris Lavette, colored, bringing a group of numbers slips. She also had a note, DeWees testified, which carried the message, "Please send 40 or 50 books by the boss, S. W. T. Thanks. (Signed) George."

Order of Arrival

Next to arrive was J. W. Jackson of Mt. Gilead who had numbers slips, books on tips and $18.87. Then came Miss Anna Welchold. DeWees continued, adding that he saw her get out of Truman's automobile as Truman drove into the driveway. She carried some money bags and records as she got out of the car, and before coming into the house received some numbers slips and money from a man and a woman who met her in the driveway. When she entered the house, police took the bags of money, containing $112.71 and $22.14, respectively, and the numbers slips, he said.

Others in the order of their arrival and the amount of money, along with numbers slips, taken from each were listed by DeWees as follows: E. E. Cook of 771 Woodrow avenue, $45; Gus Welchold of the Park boulevard address, $5.66; Harold Smith, of 462 South Prospect street, $112.80; C. J. Bode of 302 North State street, slips only; George Davis, colored, of 539 Jefferson street, $30.56.

DeWees testified that when he and the other officers took Truman to the rooms above the Saratoga, he saw two open cartons in Truman's bed room, containing sizeable quantities of coins and loose currency.

As the morning session ended, Solicitor Carhart was quizzing DeWees about a telephone call received at the Park boulevard residence during the raid. DeWees was prevented from answering by objections of the defense attorneys after he said the party asked for by the person who called was not Truman.

Testimony Continues

Patrolmen Harry Smith, J. S. Underhill and Homer Osmun and two other witnesses, Paul Castner of the Marion Lumber Co. and J. Wendel Wiant of the Wiant book store, testified in the afternoon session prior to a one-hour adjournment at 2 p. m. to allow time for another prosecution witness whose identity was not disclosed. Chief Marks also returned to the stand for brief examination.

Patrolmen Smith, Underhill and Osmun testified chiefly in corroboration of the accounts of the raid given by earlier witnesses, with the exception that Underhill said he saw Truman, at the time he took Miss Welchold to the Park boulevard residence, take from his automobile the same basket which was introduced at the trial this morning as having contained Saratoga Grill records.

Castner testified he had delivered some lumber to the Park boulevard address and charged it to Truman's account.

Wiant testified Truman had ordered and paid for the rubber stamp which Chief Marks previously identified as part of the equipment allegedly used in the operation of the numbers game. It was the same stamp which Chief Marks said had been used to provide a blank space for the name of the player and the writer and the amount of money won in making a payoff.

Chief Marks was recalled by Solicitor Carhart to testify about the reputation of the residence at 450 Park boulevard, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Welchold, so far as its use for gambling purposes was concerned. Chief Marks testified it had the reputation of being used for gambling and as headquarters for the numbers game.

SELECTION OF JUDGE DELAYED BY DISCORD

Party Leaders in Toledo and Elsewhere Block Meaning of Hahn's Successor.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—Informed persons said today continued disagreement among some Democratic party leaders in Toledo and elsewhere was delaying selection of a federal judge for the northern Ohio district.

They recalled Rep. Frank L. Kloeb of Celina has the indorsement of Sen. Vic Donahey, and the implied approval of Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, but said one group was seeking further consideration of Frazier Reams, former Lucas county (Toledo) prosecutor.

This group, they said, was understood to include Attorney General Cummings, Charles Sawyer, national committeeman from Ohio, and members of the party organization in Toledo, who based their support of Reams on his election campaign efforts in behalf of administration candidates.

Kloeb, elected by the Democrats in the fourth Ohio district last November for his third term, supported most administration measures but disagreed with President Roosevelt on the court reorganization proposal.

Bulkley said the department of justice still was considering the qualifications of various candidates. Since the death of Judge George P. Hahn months ago, Bulkley has conferred with numerous prospective appointees but has declined to announce his choice.

The senator, who held several conferences with President Roosevelt regarding the vacancy, insisted "no conclusion had been reached."

BAR FORCE IN FIGHT OVER STRIKE MAILS

employes by asking them to carry food into these plants."

Howes testified that no postal officials had discussed the situation with union members and that "no agreements of any kind" had been made "with any member of the labor organizations concerning the acceptance or delivery of mail matter."

Bridges replied immediately by producing a telegram he said he had received from two union officials, C. B. Galloway and Walter J. Payne, which said:

"We simply had an understanding with the postmaster, assistant postmaster, and postal inspector of Youngstown, O., as to what kind of packages would pass through the picket lines."

Howes said that if the department began accepting food for delivery to the plants of the Republic Steel Co., it would have to handle "two or three truck-loads a day," and cope with "undisputed violence" from pickets.

Sen. Smathers, Democrat of New Jersey, then asked Bridges:

"Do you think the government should inaugurate a new service to deliver food to these plants, simply to suit the convenience of the company?"

Bridges answered that he merely wanted a thorough investigation of the entire situation.

Bridges told the committee the assistant postmaster of Niles, O., had refused to accept parcels for delivery to strike-bound workers in a Republic Steel Co. plant because union pickets "will not allow it."

The senator asserted that the parcel contained non-perishable food, and was offered at the post-office by Lewis J. Guanieri for delivery to Sam Brown, a non-striking worker living in the Niles steel plant.

After a brief executive conference, the committee agreed to open hearing on the Bridges resolution and told him to proceed with his statement.

Before the committee began its session, Bridges agreed to support a broad inquiry into the steel strike situation instead of limiting it to alleged interference with the mails.

The extension was proposed by Sen. Guffey, Democrat of Pennsylvania, who declared solo responsibility for the strike lay with three independent steel companies.

Guffey asked that the proposed investigation determine whether the firms had violated the labor relations act and whether they are using machine guns and imported gunmen.

The senate postoffice committee was called into special session this morning to vote on recommending the inquiry.

In a statement prepared for the committee, the "freshman" senator said people in many sections affected by strikes had informed him of reported postal violations. He exhibited a bedraggled package wrapped in brown paper, on which stamps had been cancelled.

OHIO BANK BANDITS BELIEVED IDENTIFIED

By The Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, O., June 11—From photographs supplied by department of justice agents, victims of the $6,500 robbery of the First National bank of North Baltimore, O., said today they had partly identified three of the four bandits.

Possible identity of the men was not disclosed, but they were said to have been paroled from a Pennsylvania prison April 21, five days before license plates used on the robbery car were stolen in Toledo.

Three men robbed the North Baltimore bank Monday while a fourth stood guard outside. They outdistanced state highway patrolmen in a subsequent chase.

AUTO HITS 2 TREES AND BRICK PILLAR

Virgil Pickett, 27, Escapes as Machine Careens Through Farm Yard.

Virgil Pickett, 27, of the corner of Silver and Leader streets, escaped injury when his car careened through a farm yard, struck two trees, and knocked over a five-foot brick pillar, on state route 4, one-half mile south of the Marion-Crawford county line, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, according to the report of highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station.

Pickett was southbound and apparently lost control of the car, patrolmen said. The automobile damaged two large trees in the front yard of the W. A. Ludwick farm home as it grazed them before striking the pillar, it was reported. The car halted after knocking over the brick pillar, which was about three feet square and five feet in height.

Damage to Pickett's automobile was estimated at $150. It was brought to Marion by a wrecker from the Haberman Chevrolet garage on West Center street.

the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The strike call in Bethlehem Steel's railroad subsidiary at Johnstown today came even as the SWOC was celebrating a decisive exclusive bargaining agency election vote among nearly 6,000 workers of the Pittsburgh Steel Corp. at two plants near Pittsburgh.

The John L. Lewis union received a 99 per cent margin of all votes cast—5,257 yes and 645 no—the greatest ballot margin in its young history. A two to one majority among 27,000 employes of Jones & Laughlin Corp. and a slightly greater margin among 2,500 employes of the Sharon Steel Corp. at Sharon, Pa., and Lowellville, O., had been recorded earlier.

Swift maneuvers came on other fronts as Robert Burke, youthful CIO organizer, who a year ago was expelled from Columbia university after participating in an anti-Fascist demonstration before the home of Columbia's president, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, was arrested at Youngstown and charged with shooting "to wound or kill" during yesterday's hand-to-hand conflict between pickets and police in which 17 were injured.

"He has been mixed up in most of the trouble around here," Sheriff Ralph Elser declared as a fight at Massillon, O., between six men identified by police as CIO members and two non-striking Republic employes brought arrest of all. One was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and the other seven with disturbing the peace.

FINDS VOCATION BY STUDY OF NATURE

seldom seen by the average person because they fly at night are the ones that attract attention," he said. "Actually, they are not half so desirable as one of these tiny insects," he said, pointing to another tray. "However, people are attracted to the display by the big ones and before they leave they usually learn part of the story of how the little insects live."

Collection Not Objective

With many youthful naturalists, a collection of insects is the objective, but with Meddles it is only incidental. "I obtain specimens only because I want to study them, not particularly because I care to show them," he said. "My collection, while fairly large, is only a means to an end—it permits me to assemble specimens found in this vicinity during the spring, summer and fall months when they are obtainable and preserve them for study and classification during winter months when weather is unfavorable for outside work."

Meddles turned to nature nine years ago for his health and found not only the solution for his physical troubles but a vocation as well. At first he started a small collection half-heartedly, this having been suggested by his mother who as a girl had collected moths and butterflies and knew how to preserve and mount them. Since the objective at that time was to provide plenty of outdoor exercise, Meddles continued to study nature as he roamed the fields and traveled along creeks.

With the encouragement of his mother, he began obtaining information about the various birds, animals, insects, reptiles and fish that came to his attention, and soon a small library of nature books was started. Meddles would find something new in the field and begin inquiry among his books, at libraries and at school until he had satisfied himself about its place in nature. However, study in the field still holds his interest, books merely serving as a source of information for his questions.

Plans Future Study

As a result of his studies, everything in nature now interests him. He studies ahead of his classmates in botany and zoology and hopes to attend a university to study entomology. He sees a wide range of opportunities in future years for men conversant with the habits of insects and all phases of nature, pointing to the possibilities in government service, teaching or working for private corporations such as nurseries which suffer heavy losses because of insects. One of his ambitions is to prepare a book on insect life, consisting only of information he has proven to his own satisfaction. Much has been written, he said, from only casual observation and in many instances he said he has found errors in publications related to various phases of nature.

In the meantime, he has been making use of every opportunity to further himself in his study and lay the groundwork for his career. He conducted a class in butterflies and moths at the Trinity Baptist church vacation Bible school last summer for children of fifth grade to high school age, and will help in the preparation of the Boy Scout merit badge display on insect life at the national jamboree at Washington.

Meddles likes to give people a "new slant" on insect life and to debunk many common beliefs.

For example, he lists the wasp as one of the most beneficial insects although most persons believe it is of no value and regard it as only a pest that will sting if angered. The wasp, he explains, kills many insects that prey on crops.

Toads do not cause warts and snakes do not remain alive until after sundown if crushed, he declares.

Bees Are Valuable

Bees, aside from making honey, serve a very valuable role in nature's program to produce beautiful flowers and other plants and trees that have blossoms. In collecting nectar, they carry pollen from one blossom to another and thus pollinate or germinate the fruit, flowers and clovers.

The ant, Meddles asserts, is probably more like a human than any other insect so far as its manner of living is concerned. It lives in the protection of its own home, plays games, uses organized methods in warfare and work and is one of the few insects capable of purposely cooperating in an enterprise, he said.

Ants, he continued, keep cows (aphids) capture slaves, have regular scouts, soldiers and nurses. He said he has watched ants by the hour and has seen them lie in ambush for an enemy, and has seen a raiding army follow unerringly the path of a scout.

Returning again to his favorite subject, the damage caused by harmful insects, Meddles expressed a desire to leave one thought for the general public to consider—"Just remember," he said, "that insects that prey on our fruit and other crops get the first choice—the cream of the crop—and we have to take what's left. It seems to me that if people would think of harmful insects in these words, it will make them want to help fight those that are destructive and foster those that help kill off enemies of man."

Buehler and others in common pleas court for sale of lot 12955 in Courtland Terrace addition and judgment of $477.06 in delinquent real estate taxes. UNION CHIEF HALTS MARCH ON MONROE rage. The dispersal of the picket line permitted non-striking employes of the mill to return to it for the first time since it was closed by a labor dispute May 28.

Several hours of tense quietude separated that fight and the arrival of the vanguard of unionists from Pontiac. They were halted by the augmented force of officers, carrying rifles and shotguns, at a blockade on the main road leading into Monroe from the north.

As each automobile arrived its occupants were questioned searched for weapons and told to turn back if they proved to be CIO members. Other tourists were permitted to pass the blockade.

Seven men and one woman on the picket line were given hospital treatment for slight injuries after last night's melee, in which special officers used tear gas guns and bombs and night sticks and the unionists hurled bricks and stones.

Reports of the total casualties reached as high as 20.

Clash Is Brief

The clash ended within 15 minutes, the pickets retreating. Four hundred non-union workers marched down the road that had been blocked by the pickets and entered the plant.

The area of the mill, the downtown section of Monroe and the chief highways entering the city were guarded by the special officers, wearing white arm bands and many of them garbed in the colorful convention uniforms of the American Legion.

After last nights' disorder near the plant the Monroe post of the American Legion, of which Fred Keehn is commander, wired a protest to Gov. Murphy about the lack of state protection.

"Do the women and children of our city need to be terrorized by out-of-town foreigners without some action from the head of law enforcement of our state?" the message said. "We are ready to take the law into our own hands unless we have some action from your department. We stand for law and order."

Keehn said the Legion post was "not taking sides in the labor dispute."

Before retiring last night Gov. Murphy instructed Adjutant General John S. Bersey and State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander to be prepared for quick mobilization of the national guard and the state police if members of the CIO attempted to invade Monroe.

Gov. Murphy spent most of yesterday in conference or communication with Newton Steel officials, Monroe city authorities and representatives of rival labor groups among the steel mill employes—the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee of the CIO and the Steel Workers' association of Monroe, an independent organization.

Battle lines were drawn two hours before the start of last night's clash.

In the interval, pickets and special police faced each other across a space of 150 yards while leaders engaged in futile peace negotiations.

SIMPSON DENIES DIVORCE PAID FOR

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 11—Ernest Aldrich Simpson kissed the Bible in king's court today and swore a voluntary oath that he had received not a cent to stand aside in the divorce that freed Wallis Warfield to marry his former monarch, Edward of Windsor.

Emphatically, in clipped phrases, the mild-mannered ship broker declared he had not been paid and that he had not received a promise of money or other consideration for failing to defend the action brought by his American-born former wife.

His avowal was followed promptly by an apology from Mrs. Joan Sutherland, through her counsel, and withdrawal of Simpson's suit accusing her of slanderously repeating gossip that he had been paid "for his silence." Mrs. Sutherland was not in court.

MANSFIELD FIRM WILL REORGANIZE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 11—William B. Woods, special master and referee in bankruptcy, today recommended to the northern Ohio federal district court the reorganization of the Highway Construction Co. of Ohio as asked by the company.

The contracting company is operated by Samuel A. Hervitz, Lorain and Mansfield, O., newspaper publisher, and Isadore Horvitz.

Woods, in his findings, listed eight claims against the company, totalling $452,591.53 and 31 other claims of general creditors of $1,000 or under, together with taxes and assessments on real estate and personal property in Cuyahoga and Lorain counties.

CONSERVANCY COURT WILL HEAR CHARGES

Ouster Proceedings Against Directors Set; Judge Young Member of Court.

The Scioto-Sandusky conservancy court of 17 common pleas judges, including Judge Hector S. Young of Marion, will begin a hearing of charges at Columbus Monday against two of the three district directors that they sought to use the district program for political purposes and jeopardized the flood control project, The Associated Press reported today.

The court postponed the hearing April 26 amid reports of an impending compromise which now has failed to develop.

The conservancy association, assertedly composed of residents of the district, accused directors William E. Martin of Upper Sandusky and Joseph Van Meter of Waverly with refusing to allow the U. S. army engineers to supervise the project and thereby disqualify the district from obtaining necessary federal grants.

Although Director B. B. Smith of Fremont was not included in the charges, his removal also was sought by the association.

The law firm of Pretzman & Dillon represented the association in bringing general charges of misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance and breach of duty against Martin and Van Meter.

Counsel for the directors have denied the charges and made counter accusations that the move to oust the directors arose out of "personal antagonism of Alva Pretzman for these two directors."

Presiding Judge Robert P. Duncan of Franklin county issued the call for Monday's session. Reports of another impending postponement followed announcement of President Roosevelt's plan for power authorities to be set up throughout the United States. If adopted, it was predicted that the regional authority for the Ohio valley and Great Lakes district would take over the conservancy district and the directors would cease to function.

Also included in the court will be common pleas judges of Morrow, Union, Delaware, Crawford and Wyandot counties among others.

HEIRESS' KIN ASK TO BE LEFT ALONE

Nor would he specifically deny that any contact had been established with the supposed abductors.

The threat of harm in the crudely written ransom note, left in the Parsons' sedan as it stood in their driveway, had added to Parsons' fears. Just before an eight-state police alarm had been broadcast he had appealed for an opportunity to deal directly with the kidnapers.

Ordered to Bus Station

The note ordered him to carry the money to the Jamaica bus terminal a busy center from which buses run to all parts of Long Island. There, the note said, "my man" would meet him and call to him.

"Do not bring cops," the note which was unsigned said. "If you do, Alice will never speak to you again."

Police watched the terminal last night, but nothing developed.

Richardson Pratt, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, whose wife is Parsons' sister, was reported willing to pay the ransom should the husband be unable to raise the cash.

The Pratts live at Glen Cove, Long Island, not far from the estate of J. P. Morgan.

Morgan, seated in one of his big limousines, passed the Pratt place yesterday, bound for his yacht, the Corsair, anchored off Glen Cove. When he saw a small crowd gathered outside Pratt's house he inquired what was the matter.

When he was told the cause of the gathering he was reported to have cancelled his projected cruise, and returned to his home.

WOMAN SOUGHT AS 'WIFE' OF TWO MEN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—Police searched the city today for a 24-year-old woman whom two men claimed as their wife.

Detectives started their hunt when Lee Miller notified them that his wife, Violet Lucille Miller, mother of his four children, had disappeared.

Tracing the license of an automobile the blue-eyed woman was believed to have entered, they encountered Francis Raymond Betts, 25.

In response to queries about Violet Miller, Betts cried, "why that's my wife! She's disappeared and I've been worried sick."

Betts produced a marriage license, issued Tuesday at Jackson, O., to bolster his assertion. A Columbus minister performed the marriage ceremony that night, he said.

Betts declared he had known the woman about five months and met her often near her home. He said she insisted that her "father" objected to her entertaining visitors so Betts communicated with her through notes carried by neighborhood children.

The morning after the marriage Betts left his bride at his home but said he returned from work that night to find that she had vanished.

The marriage of Miss Annabelle Emmons and Wilbur Keck on Dec. 12, 1936, in Richmond, Ind., was announced last evening in the award won by Mrs. James Quay for high score in bridge, given at a meeting of the Double Four club at the home of Mrs. Charles Burke on Avondale avenue.

Mrs. Hannah Emmons of Avondale avenue is the mother of Mrs. Keck. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Keck will live at the Emmons home. Mr. Keck is employed at the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Second award in bridge went to Mrs. Ed Hanning and the galloping award was won by Mrs. Harry Speck. Mrs. V. W. Orth won a guest prize. Mrs. Keck and Mrs. Hester Orth also were guests. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Quay of Canby court.

SOFTBALL GAMES DELAYED BY RAIN

For the second time in as many days rain last night halted the city's organized softball league activity. Teams of the Industrial loop were scheduled to go to bat in the fourth round of competition but the wet weather necessitated postponement.

Teams in the Industrial league which next week enter the fifth round of a scheduled 14-game season have been able to get only two contests played during the first four weeks of the season.

A new bench vise that is adjustable to any angle in any of four different planes locks into position automatically when its jaws are pressed on work.

Hackney To Tangle with Mystery Man He Unveiled

"I got his mask and now I'm going to get him," was the greeting of defiance hurled by Atlanta's Honey Boy Hackney last week when he succeeded in unveiling Mystery Mike at the expense of losing a hectic wrestling match. Honey Boy will get that opportunity when he returns here next week to battle the "unmasked mystery man," Les Wolfe of Sherman, Tex., in one of the two headlined on the Monday night grappling program.

In the other featured bout of the weekly meeting of the break-it-off society, the tough Bob Montgomery, who came near inciting a riot last week, will be paired with a wrestler who fans feel is his master, Sergeant Bob Remaston, the ex-marine from Silver City, Ore. Fans are expecting to see the rough-and-tough Montgomery get his just deserts at the hands of the well-known Marine.

The pair of bouts which form the main attractions of the Monday night bill will be held under the open skies at the Uncapher avenue arena. Last week, for the first time this season, the grappling program was moved outdoors. In addition to the pair of top scraps, which will be over the 90-minute period with two falls to win, a preliminary of 20 minutes is scheduled. The prelim is set to start at 8:30 o'clock.

Whether Hackney can stand up before the fast pace of the unveiled Mystery Mike, is a matter of conjecture among fans who saw last week's scrap. Hackney devoted too much of his time and effort to removing the scarlet mask which hid the identity of his opponent, rather than retaliate in the rough fashion in which he was treated.

Les Wolfe, who hails from Sherman, Tex., is known as a clever, rough and aggressive ringster with no little amount of experience. Without the mask to cover his identity, it is probable that Wolfe may sport an entirely different brand of tangling. He is capable of clean and fast grappling and now that fans know who he really is, he may refrain from the rough tactics which he relied upon in previous matches here.

In the scrap last week, the real life western bad man opened with a rough display against Hackney, taking the first fall in nine minutes with a leg grapevine. Hackney slugged his way free of a similar hold in the second and won with a cradle hold, but fell into the fatal grapevine in the decisive round when he devoted his efforts to the mask rather than the man.

Majors Believe Washington Ahead in Ferrell Trade With Boston.

BY SID FEDER

In more places than one, the belief was growing today that Mr. Tom Yawkey had wound up on the short end again, for his latest venture on the ivory trading market doesn't appear to have done his own Boston Red Sox any particular good.

The Washington Senators seem to have all the better of it by obtaining Rick and Wes Ferrell, with Mel Almada thrown in, in return for Ben Chapman and Buck Newsom.

Boston has a crying need for a veteran outfielder like Chapman, but temperamental Ben hasn't been of much use to the Nats this year anyway, and is batting a mediocre .262. In Newsom, the Senators are giving up a pitcher who, according to the record books, is hardly in the same league with Wes Ferrell, year after year.

At the same time, Washington came out with an ace pitcher and a crack catcher—easily one of the league's three best—in Rick Ferrell, thereby plugging the one hole in the lineup since the season's opening gun.

Ferrell and Newsom are both about 29, but the former has ten years experience to Bucks' six. Ferrell, in his last eight years, has averaged better than 20 victories per season. Newsom never has had a 20-game year. Last year, when he won 17 and lost 15, was his best.

Chapman, batting .262, hasn't fitted into the Washington picture against such outfield opposition as Jonathan Stone, hitting .331, Al Simmons and Jesse Hill. Rick Ferrell gives the Nats a .305 clouter for this season and a potential .300 hitter any year.

The trade stole the headlines away from yesterday's major league program, eclipsing even the end of the Chicago White Sox's 10-game winning streak, longest of the majors this season. The New York Yankees clubbed out a 10-3 win over the Sox to end the run and regain sole possession of the American League's first place.

While the National League leading New York Giants were idle, along with the St. Louis Cardinals, the Chicago Cubs moved to within half a game of the top by walloping the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-3 behind Bill Lee's effective hurling.

The Tigers staged a two-run ninth inning rally and topped the Athletics 4-3. The St. Louis Browns whipped the Senators 6-3, and the Red Sox and Indians were rained out.

The Cincinnati Reds' two-run splurge in the ninth was enough to top the Boston Bees 6-5 and, in the only other big league game, the Phillies made it two in a row over the Pirates with a 5-4 decision.

Dropping off in New York for a three game series with the Giants before turning homeward, the Cincinnati Reds' pinned pitching hopes today on Paul Derringer while the New Yorkers were undecided whether the opposing moundsman would be Lefty Al Smith or Hal Schumacher.

The Reds won yesterday from Boston to tie a four game series two all. They took a long lead in the second inning only to permit the Bees to score enough runs to lead them into the final frame.

Shute, Snead in Lead in Initial Rounds of Open

Their 69's Set Pace for Field of 168 Golfers in Tourney.

By FRITZ HOWELL

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 11—They headed into the second lap of the National Open steeplechase today, with a pack of golfing thoroughbreds straining to catch Denny Shute, two-time P. G. A. champion and Slammin' Sam Snead, freshman from West Virginia's hills, who staged a photo finish with par-shattering 69's the first time around.

Old man par (he was such a stranger during the practice rounds that the boys called him Mr. Par) was still groggy from the beating he took yesterday, but he was expected to come out fighting against his 166 club-carrying opponents.

Snead and Shute, seeking the greatest crown in golfdom, were only a putt ahead of five other birdie-baggers, three of them amateurs, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Frank Walsh of Chicago were the runners-up playing for funds, while the "playing for fun" trio was composed of Bill Holt, Syracuse auto salesman; Frankie Strafaci of Brooklyn, 1935 publinks champ and Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb., who won the Open free-for-all in 1935.

Holt was shooting at a bit more than the title, for he bet $15 of his own coin across the board, at odds of 500 to 1, that he would romp in with the laurels. Strafaci fancied the 200 to 1 odds against him, and made a bit of a wager that he would surprise the field.

Bracketed at 71, a stroke under even figures, were Mike Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y.; Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., and Fred Morrison, of Pasadena, Calif.

Lighthouse Harry Cooper, runner-up last year at Baltusrol, was even par with 72, sharing a tie with eight others for the 12th spot. The other par-shooters were Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex.; Ted Longworth of Portland, Ore.;

COLUMBUS DEFEATED BY MILLERS, 8-7, IN 10-INNING STRUGGLE

Toledo Trounces St. Paul To Take Top Place in Association.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 11—Toledos' Mud Hens were the new leaders in the American Association pennant race today, with the Indianapolis Indians credited with an assist in shaking Milwaukee out of first place.

The Brewers not only were out of the lead, but were in third place, a half game behind the Mud Hens and percentage points behind Donie Bush's Minneapolis Millers.

Toledo and Minneapolis took care of their share of the plot yesterday by defeating St. Paul and Columbus, respectively, and the Indians completed the job in a night game by trouncing Milwaukee, 11 to 4.

Fred Johnson outpitched Babe Phelps and Italo Chelini, a pair of former Chicago White Sox hurlers, and Toledo conquered the Saints, 6 to 3. Johnson yielded 11 hits.

The Millers won their second 10-inning struggle in 10 days with the Red Birds, 8 to 7, when Andy Cohen singled to drive in John Peacock with two out in the extra inning. Minneapolis led by Cohen who had

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

BY ESTHER TYLER

(...ber 25th 1932, Esther Tyler)

SYNOPSIS: A mysterious shot calls Jude Bilsshop, my old flame, to the scene of our stormy week-end at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. Strange attacks follow; then we find the body of Michael's mad father below the bluff stout, Victorian Aunt Martha shot in the shoulder and the is finished with sleeping pow... The Skipper, Mike's tall, ...ered younger aunt, disappears ... find her six hours later, bound ... the left, all but dead, Higgins, ... the old butler, is shot to death, apparently a suicide. Then I notice the gun is in his right hand, ... Higgins was left-handed.

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

I Set My Trap

I CHECKED them off on my fingers: Gay, Michael, M. Farrington, William, Annie and—yes, and Cook. Ill as she was, Cook could have crossed that hall, fired, pushed the old man over on the bed, placed the gun in his hand and beat a hasty retreat. Any one of them could. And all my efforts at cross-examination only led to hate and defiance. They were protecting either themselves or someone else—every one of them.

I wanted a trap—a trap that no fiend could spring. And I wanted it before they all collected for breakfast and the murderer had a chance to suspect that his plan had not worked.

There was only one question on which any trap could hinge—the reason for the presence of the revolver in Higgins' right hand. It could have been put there because the murderer was ignorant of the fact that it should have been in the left hand, because the murderer forgot in his excitement, of because the murderer desired to throw suspicion on someone else. They all seemed good possibilities. The choice depended entirely upon the identity of the culprit.

Of all the people in the house, Gay was the only person who could have done it out of ignorance. She was also the one person in the house against whom there had been not one shred of evidence at any time. She was impulsive and hotheaded. The murderer might or might not be either.

The murderer certainly was cold, logical and capable of swift action. In a crisis Gay was all of those things. It was possible that her row with Michael had been a safety valve for more nerve strain than we had realized. Yes, Gay was capable of those murders, but I could not even remotely guess at a reason behind them.

Michael, on the other hand, certainly knew all of Higgins' characteristics. If Michael had placed that gun in the butler's right hand, he had done it because he lost his head. And Michael in such a situation would be quite apt to lose his head.

His aunt, on the contrary, would be very cool. And M. Farrington did not like Gay. I could not help feeling that if M. Farrington were ever aroused to the point of committing a murder, she would not hesitate to cast suspicion on any luckless soul who had incurred her dislike.

It seemed as though both Cook and Annie would have lost their heads in such a situation. But William would be cool as ice. But, without exception, every one of them knew that Higgins was left-handed.

I sought a trap that would hinge around those characteristics as I saw them and around the peculiar circumstances in which the body was found. The sight of the body was not much help. I covered it.

Then I started methodically and worked my way from the bed around the room, under the rug, under the bed, through the pitifully few possessions in the dresser and wardrobe. Not many spoils to show, for 70-odd years of hard work, or my purpose, nothing to show at all.

It was a quarter of seven. At any time now the round-up for breakfast was apt to start and something told me that I must question the suspects individually or give up the whole attempt. Hopelessly I stared at that room, trying to wring its secret from it. A trap! I must spring a trap—now. And my mind was a blank.

I stared down at the figure on the bed and the idea came. Three strides took me into the hall. Conclusive proof or otherwise, I knew what I was going to do.

Panic Seizes Gay

All the way to Gay's door I was thinking of only one possibility. What if she wasn't there? But she must be!

"Come in!" called a cheerful voice. "Oh—hello, Jim. I was just going to start down. Why—what's the matter?"

I put a finger to my lips. "Shhhh!" I said hoarsely. "Don't let the others hear you. Come quickly."

She gave me one awful look and the brush in her hand fell clattering to the floor. "Jimmie, what is it? Oh—"

But I clapped a hand over her mouth before the scream was fairly started.

"Quiet!" I hissed. "I've just discovered something they'll all have to see. You'll have to—show me how to break it to them."

I had not underestimated Gay Palmer. She was suddenly as calm as if I had merely come to escort her to breakfast. When the panic was completely gone from her eyes I removed my hand.

"Is it Mike?" she demanded levelly. "Don't fool with me, Jim. Is he all right?"

"He's all right," I said, leading her into the hall. That short silent walk to Higgins' room was ghastly. I was obliged to concentrate on all the worst features of the crimes before I could force myself to push open his door. Gay walked in without a sign of alarm, and I followed her, closing the door and putting my back against it. Swiftly her eyes swept the room from the bed to the far wall and back to my face.

"Why—what is it" she said blankly.

There was a dead, heavy weight in my chest. Whatever she had done, this was the girl that Michael wanted to marry. Violently I wished that my slow wits had been able to devise something quick and conclusive in place of my slow, questionable scheme.

I was banking desperately on the Skipper's evidence. Briefly, I had reasoned that if one of the servants was the culprit, the Skipper's evidence added to the circumstantial chain which I had built up against them, would be all that was necessary. However, if a member of the Skipper's family, or a person who might shortly become a member of it was guilty, the Skipper would lie, and it would be necessary for someone else to prove their guilt.

Going back over the scene of the finding of Higgins' body, I had realized that not Michael, Gay or M. Farrington could possibly have seen the body as it lay on the bed. Annie and William had been standing in the doorway, completely blocking off their view. Consequently, if any one of them knew in what position both the body and the gun had been found, that person was the murderer.

I intended to ask each one in turn to help me prove that Higgins was a suicide. The murderer had had plenty of time to ponder over his or her blunders. Therefore, if any one of the three could reconstruct the scene of the crime, satisfying in full all of its peculiar circumstances, that person was the person I wanted. If not, we had simply to wait until the Skipper was well enough to tell her story.

We Hunt the Bullet

"Jimmie What ails you? Are you sick?"

I shook my head to clear it. "No," I said, "just tired. Listen. We'll have to send for the police as soon as someone gets here from shore. And there's something wrong with this. If Higgins killed himself in here, the bullet ought to be here. It's the first thing the police will look for. And I can't find it anywhere."

"Hmmm," said Gay slowly. "That's so." She paused a moment and then her face brightened. "Well, look! He must have been either standing by the bed or sitting on it. If he was standing, the bullet ought to be in the door. If he was sitting, it must be in the wall above or behind the bed. The darned thing could have gone right between those iron bars."

She was assuming that Higgins had used his right hand, and that there was nothing peculiar about the wounds in his head. Hedging for time, I examined the door carefully, felt along the wall above the bed, and even moved the bed to look at the dusty surface behind it.

"That's funny," said Gay.

I had some thinking to do. "Wait," I grunted, moving the bed back into place. "Let me think. Yes, of course! The door was open!"

If there was anything in her face but an unflattering opinion of my intelligence, I couldn't see it.

"Then the thing must be in the hall, you say!" she said scornfully. I followed her into the hall and examined the wall solemnly. My head wouldn't seem to clear. I had the impression that my bright little scheme was flopping.

Gay's face was worried. "This is ridiculous, Jim. It must be here!" Was she acting? I played my last card. "Good Lord! Am I a lunkhead! The old boy was left-handed."

Sincere or feigned, there was plenty of disgust in the look she leveled at me. Perhaps I was gullible, but at that moment I was sure that my information meant nothing to Gay Palmer.

Michael faces my test tomorrow.

38 ON CITY TRAFFIC COURT LIST TODAY

Some Plead Guilty to Minor Violations; All Must Answer Notices, Officials Say.

Thirty-eight Marion motorists were cited to appear in traffic court this morning for minor parking violations. At noon 13 of that number had pleaded guilty to charges ranging from overtime parking to making U turns.

Five were excused and the remainder were expected to appear in municipal court sometime today, court officials said. Of those excused, one ticket had been issued to the city nurse's car who was on duty at the time, another driver was in a physician's office receiving medical attention, one car tagged was from the county probate court and another driver was excused when he reported that his car was broken down at the time, court officials said.

About 20 persons attended the court session this morning, and other motorists cited will be permitted to make their appearance sometime today, Judge Martin said. "The names of those who do not appear," he said, "will be turned back to the police department."

Indications that city officials intend clamping down on the minor violators came when Police Chief Marks added to the judge's statement by declaring that "Summons will be issued for the appearance of those who do not answer the traffic ticket charges."

Of the 38 drivers cited, 27 were accused of overtime parking, five of not observing no-parking signs, three for parking in safety zones and one each for allowing a motor to run without anyone in the automobile, making a U turn and parking within 10 feet of a fire hydrant.

MISSION SOCIETY CLOSES ITS SEASON

Thank-Offering, Report Made by Epworth M. E. Group.

Thank-offering contributions for the year amounted to $122, and the mite box offering was $31 for the year it was reported yesterday afternoon when the Foreign Missionary society of Epworth M. E. church closed its season with a combined program and business session in the intermediate room of the church. Mrs. F. L. Hunter presented the thank-offering report and Mrs. Frank Burns the mite box report.

Mrs. Gladys Arter presided at the piano for the opening song and Mrs. C. R. Aiken, stewardship secretary, talked on "Stewardship of Prayer." Mrs. E. T. Waring read an article on "petty nuisances" sent out by the Marion Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Wooster Sifritt, retiring president, gave a short talk and presented the gavel to her successor Mrs. Emil Sweney, who outlined her program for the coming year.

Mrs. A. W. Newby was in charge of a program which opened with devotionals by Mrs. Sweney. A leaflet, "Proving God," was read by Mrs. C. A. Artz, and Mrs. Newby presented a leaflet on "African Life," assisted by members of the society.

During the mite-box opening Mrs. Burns was assisted by Mrs. J. B. Ellis who sang a selection, and Anna Thomas.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Ida Longshore and members of her group. The society will join the Home Missionary society for joint installation of officers Sunday morning, June 27.

A Philadelphia studio is broadcasting clear cut television pictures picked up with a camera as portable as a motion picture outfit.

TWO AUTO SUPPLY THEFTS REPORTED

William Rupert of 264 North Greenwood street reported to police that a fender guide, steering wheel knob and a gas cap were taken from his car while it was parked near that address last night. The value of the missing articles was estimated at $10.

A flashlight, steel rule, cigarets and trouble light were taken from an automobile belonging to Kar Konkle of North Main street while it was parked on Windsor street near Bellefontaine avenue, Saturday night, according to his report to police yesterday. The articles were valued at $6.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS START MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Organized Like Baseball League for Competition; Dinner Meeting Held.

A drive for boys' memberships to the Y. M. C. A. was opened last night when members of teams competing held a dinner meeting in rooms at the Y. Complete rosters of the teams, which will compete against each other with the winner being banqueted by the losers, were announced.

The drive will be held along the lines of a baseball league with three teams taking part. Woodrow Hartley will coach the Pirates captained by Wayne Shaw and composed of George Swikel, Harry Mnish, Jay McGinnis and Thomas Biggert.

The Indians, headed by Coach William Woessner, will be captained by Thomas Baldwin and include on the roster William Williams, Jay Gilbert, Carl Hall, Andy Irvine and Forrest Sharrock Jr. Charles Caprino will coach the third team, the Athletics, captained by Dan Hale and including Gerald Strauss, Roy Stout, Isadore Birnbaum and Eugene Mathias.

Gene Hill addressed the group at the send-off meeting last night, during which plans were made for report sessions. With a goal of 50 new members, the group will make reports Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week at 4 p. m.

MINISTER SPEAKS ON "REPENTANCE"

"Repentance" was the theme of a revival sermon delivered last night at the First Church of the Nazarene by Rev. Clyde Williams of Olivet, Ill. He said in part: "John the Baptist preached a message that prepared the heart for the coming of Jesus. The Gospel that he preached will do the same today and bring the same results. He was so filled with his message there was no question in the hearts of his listeners. True repentance brings a change of mind and there is no substitute." Rev. J. E. Davidson, pastor, and Mrs. Davidson, sang. Services will be held tonight and Saturday night at 7:30.

HOLLYWOOD STRIKE ENDS IN ACCORD

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, June 11—The 42-day strike of major film studio craftsmen, which impeded production and nearly led to a walkout of the Screen Actor's guild, ended today in a "satisfactory agreement."

Union painters, makeup artists, hairdressers and scenic artists voted to go back to work this morning.

"We're satisfied and the producers are satisfied. I guess everybody got what they wanted," said Charles Lessing of the federated crafts, which conducted the strike.

WATERSHED TAX DECISION AWAITED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—Property owners protesting against Muskingum watershed conservancy district assessments expected today to hear within two or three weeks whether the state supreme court would uphold them.

The court heard arguments and prepared to give decisions on the watershed and other pending cases before adjourning until September.

Atty. E. M. Noll of Marietta represented 124 individual property owners who contended the benefits assessed against them were inequitable and not based on facts. Noll said the appraisers had not viewed some of the property and consequently "no real assessment of benefits ever was made."

BASEBALL OPENER PLANS UP AT MEETING TONIGHT

Final plans for a "booster day" ticket drive to support the Ohio State league baseball team, which this week transferred its franchise from Sandusky to Marion, will be mapped out at a special meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight in their rooms on East Center street.

As officials of the organization continued their activity in behalf of the team, other work is moving forward to whip into shape the Lincoln park playing field for the opening game here June 22 with Findlay. R. R. Thompson of Toledo, owner of the club, when he visited Marion yesterday, completed arrangements to start construction of a wooden fence around the playing field tomorrow.

Will Explain Plan

Howard Ryan, general chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee, tonight will outline to members the ticket sale plans. The organization will back the move to net $2,000 which will assure the team's finishing present season here and its return for the complete 1938 schedule.

The booster day tickets, selling at 50 cents each, will be placed on sale starting next Monday and will be distributed through Junior Chamber members. The tickets will be good for any of the games during the first two weeks after the team comes to Marion. Bowie Morgan, president of the Junior chamber, reported today that all members of his organization have been called to the meeting tonight to get off to an early start on the booster day campaign.

Tomorrow morning workmen are to begin erecting the board fence around the Lincoln park playing field. Lester Crawford of Sandusky, who visited the city yesterday with Thompson, will direct the by the end of next week.

All Enthusiastic

Showing a marked enthusiasm at bringing his ball club here, Thompson yesterday completed negotiations with the Marion park commission for use of the diamond this season and next. The eagerness of his team members to come here was shown, he said, in their offer to assist in erecting the fence in order to definitely assure completion of preparations by the opening date.

JUDGE CONSIDERS RAILROADS' SUIT

By The Associated Press

Edward Lamb, Toledo, attorney for the CIO in Ohio, argued the federal court had no jurisdiction in the suit and that the "plaintiffs (Pennsylvania, Erie and Baltimore & Ohio railroads) are fronting and acting as a foil for Republic Steel Corp. The dirty hands of Republic are the dirty hands of the plaintiffs."

The railroads alleged that pickets have refused to permit trains to enter and leave Republic's picketed plants at Warren and Niles.

BRITAIN HOPES TO RECONCILE FASCISTS

Success Foreseen in Plan To Bring Them Back Into Spanish Patrol.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 11 — An official British spokesman today predicted probable immediate agreement on plans for a four-power formula to bring Germany and Italy back into the international "hands off Spain" naval patrol.

He said there was a "fair chance" that Italo-German abstention from the non-intervention patrol would be ended by the end on the basis of a plan submitted by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Fear was dispelled that French support of soviet Russia's protests against exclusion from the discussions might block the agreement.

As Eden conferred with the French, Italian and German ambassadors, a British spokesman said there were "no points of disagreement" among the conferees.

Russia has insisted that an agreement be brought before the full neutrality committee, not only among the four powers whose warships form the international fleet—Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

Germany and Italy withdrew from the patrol to demand freedom of action for the defense of their warships after one vessel of each nation had been bombed by Spanish government planes.

NEW MEMBERS AT MEETING OF CIRCLE

Mrs. Walter A. Dorsey, circle president, presided for admission services for several new members at a meeting of the Silver Cross circle of the King's Daughters last night at the home of Mrs. W. W. Wilson on Blaine avenue. Plans were made to join other circles in the City union in sponsoring a benefit rummage sale June 25, at the City market.

Mrs. Burdette Bindley presented a paper on "The Call of Missions" and Mrs. Chard Jerew read an article from the King's Daughters magazine, "The Pilot of Galilee." A playlet, "The First Rebecca," was given by several members of the Three Arts club. Mrs. Nell Austin was elected to membership in the circle.

Guests included Mrs. Paul Gressmeyer, Mrs. Roland Selanders, Mrs. C. W. Weber, Mrs. C. O. Pixler, Mrs. Frank Scribner and Mrs. Harry Foltz. Refreshments were served. A meeting June 24 at the home of Mrs. Oscar Lusch on Harding Highway E., will be a social feature of the circle's program.

Wide Variety of Fresh Foods in Markets Here

A wide variety of fruits and berries are now available at Marion markets with even more due as the season and weather becomes more favorable. The newest arrivals are blueberries and red raspberries from California and huckleberries from Florida. New also are California apricots.

Last week red cherries from California of a variety with an abundance of meat appeared here for the first time this year. Apricots are at low ebb this week with Wineseps leading the few varieties available, dealers said.

The old standbys—cherries, bananas and lemons—are coming in good quality and quantity. Grapefruit on the tree hardly is becoming ripe and ready still remain scarce, dealers said. Cucumbers, tomatoes and lettuce are all coming in abundance. Potatoes are much more plentiful than they have been in the past few weeks and quality greatly improved, it was said.

Asparagus, green and wax beans, cabbage, peas and spinach are all excellent and plentiful, dealers said.

Egg production is plentiful and received a low wholesale price for the past week, according to dealers. Poultry prices are still under fair, it was said, but broilers and fryers, chickens, ducks and turkeys are plentiful and the flush season is on, although there have been no great changes in recent weeks, it was said. Consumers are well supplied, it was reported by dealers.

"ALL-BRAN SAVED ME FROM A LIFETIME OF SUFFERING"

"I had suffered from constipation for three years. My condition was becoming really serious, when I read of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"I bought a package. Within two weeks, my bowels were regular, and I began to enjoy living again. It has saved me from a lifetime of suffering."—Mrs. Lloyd Baird, 384 S. Bannock St., Denver, Colo.

Try ALL-BRAN yourself. It corrects the common type of constipation. Within the body, it absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Three times daily in severe cases. As a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes.

Isn't it better to eat this wholesome food than to take pills and drugs that may be harmful and often lose their effect? ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

REVIEW OF ACTION REFUSED BY COURT

Overrules Motion of Marion Man To Certify Record in Damage Case

The state supreme court yesterday overruled the motion of John Knight of Marion to certify the record in his suit against the Marion Steam Shovel Co. thus bringing to an end litigation which grew from an injury suffered 14 years ago in 1923. Formal notification of the supreme court's action was received by Clerk of Courts Carl E. Huberman.

Knight's action against the company was brought after the state industrial commission stopped the $12 a week payments it had been making to him from shortly after the injury to March of 1930. The commission had refused his appeal for continuance of aid.

His injuries were a fracture of the right leg from which he asserts he was permanently crippled. He sought $8 a week from the company for every week since March of 1930 when the state payments stopped.

Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young last November found for the defendant at the close of Knight's testimony. A motion for a new trial was overruled and the case was taken to the Third district court of appeals where no error was found in Judge Young's finding. It was appealed to the supreme court early last month. German G. Terry of Columbus represented Knight and Guthery Stoltz & Guthery were attorneys for the company.

NEW TRIAL SOUGHT IN LEUTHOLD CASE

Theodore Leuthold of near Lucas who was awarded $100 damages Monday night by a common pleas court jury in the $5,000 suit against the Central Utilities Power Co. now asks a new trial of the matter. Among several alleged errors cited by him in the impending trial was that Judge Hector S. Young refused to prohibit testimony given on the part of Leuthold's defense to the fact that no evidence was introduced.

Leuthold is asking damages for injuries suffered in January of 1936 when he charges high voltage current flowed into the house as a result of poles blown down in a windstorm. Last year jurors disagreed when it was learned that the attempted insertion of such evidence was made by Attorneys Lawhead and Lawhead and H. L. Dawson of Mansfield, counsel for the defendant.

A CLOROX-CLEAN HOME IS A SAFER PLACE TO LIVE IN!

YOU OWE IT TO YOUR FAMILY'S HEALTH TO ACT UPON THESE SCIENTIFIC FACTS!

Microscopic views of germs on TOWELS . . . DRAINBOARDS . . . WASH BASINS

These reproductions of microscopic views show the infection dangers that may lurk on a modernly soiled towel a so called 'clean' drainboard and wash basin. Millions of germs can live on one square inch, indicating the imperative need for the regular use in every home of a safe and efficient disinfectant—Clorox, an added safe guard to health!

Germ-laden handkerchiefs, towels, table and bed linens menace health. Clorox in the regular laundering process removes numerous stains, makes white cottons and linens snowy white and sanitary.

Millions of germs lurk on refrigerators, drainboards, sinks, dishes, glassware, dish cloths, dish mops. Clorox in your routine cleaning dis'n fects, also deodorizes and removes numerous stains.

Bacteria thrive in the broom on porcelain tile and linoleum. Clorox routine cleaning makes these surfaces fresh smelling and hygienically clean, removes numerous stains.

MODERN METHODS IN HOME-SANITATION ARE ESSENTIAL FOR HEALTH PROTECTION

Noted Health Authority Says Use of Efficient Disinfectant In Household Cleaning Tasks Will Cut Down Spread of Infection

In an interview recently published one of America's leading health officials made this startling statement:

"The average housewife would be insulted if she were told that her home was not clean, but experts estimate that germ-infected dishes and cloths washed in the home bring out undeniable evidence that many of our cleaning methods commonly employed today are antiquated and ineffectual.

"Not if you please because she does not try but because some of her methods are not based on scientific information.

"For the kitchen use I not only the refrigerator needs careful attention but the sink, drainboards and tables on which food is prepared require thorough cleaning.

"Carefully controlled experiments show a high bacterial count on these articles. Proper disinfection of all these things including of course towels, dish towels, handkerchiefs, mops and utensils would cut down the chance of spreading infection.

"Using pure rinse waters, with the addition of an effective disinfectant or bleaching water will result in a much more hygienic approach to the question of [illegible]

CLOROX is the modern conception of home cleanliness. In bleaching, deodorizing, disinfecting and removing numerous stains Clorox is helping millions of women to attain the highest standards of household cleanliness by safe and easy methods.

If Clorox were used only for bleaching, or stain removing, or deodorizing, it would still command a rightful place in the homes of the nation. But in addition to these important services, Clorox brings to the home-cleansing jobs a gift of service that tops them all—a first aid in HOME-HEALTH PROTECTION. Clorox is outstanding among those disinfectants which scientists pronounce safest and best suited for household use. The Clorox-Clean home is a safer place to live in.

Trips To National Parks Mapped As Season Opens

With most national parks opened or about to open for the summer tourist season, many residents of Marion and vicinity are besieging the Marion Auto club on East Center street these days for routes, hotel prices in faraway cities and suggestions of on where to go for the summer vacation.

M. E. Baldwin, secretary of the club, has outlined trips to three of the best known parks in the country, pointing out interesting places by the wayside. Many persons, not knowing of many of the little publicized spots, drive right past them, he says.

The nearest national park to Marion—and one of the most beautiful—lies in the Great Smoky Mountain area in North Carolina and Tennessee. A four-day motor trip covering less than 1,000 miles there and back will permit the tourist to see nearly everything there is to be seen.

South to Portsmouth

He suggests taking Route 23 from Marion to Portsmouth, to Jenkins, Ky., Norton, Kingsport, Johnson City (a little rough road here), join U. S. 19 and continue on 23 to Erwin where another bit of rough road confronts you, to Asheville, famous resort in North Carolina. Despite the popularity of Asheville its hotel and tourist camp rates are normal and a stop-over here would be worthwhile, Mr. Baldwin says.

Continue on 23 to Dillsboro, N. C. to U. S. 19 and then to North Carolina Route 107 to Cherokee. In the midst of the mountains, you can take 107 to the park over Newfound Gap at a height of 5,053 feet into Tennessee where the route changes to 71.

To get back to Marion go to Sevierville on 71, then take 35 to Knoxville. Two routes home are available from Knoxville, one on 25-W permitting you to see Norris Dam and the Narrows and the other on route 33 to Tazewell, then on 25-E to Middlesboro and the Cumberland Gap. The second route will miss a half-mile detour over poor road. Both 25-E and 25-W meet at Carbon, Ky., where you take route 25 to Lexington, then 68 to Maysville, join route 62 and follow to Columbus, then 23 to Marion.

Route to Denver

Several persons have asked the best routes to Denver, Col., Mr. Baldwin said. He recommends Route 4 to Springfield, O., (a detour after Marysville, taking 36 to Urbana and 68 to Springfield), then follow U. S. 40 through St. Louis to Kansas City and Manhattan, Kan. From Manhattan, take U. S. 24 to Limon, Col., and again use route 40 directly into Denver. If route 40 is used all the way from Manhattan to Denver, many rough spots will be met.

From Denver to Yellowstone National Park is not an excessive drive. Start from Denver on Route 87 to Casper, Wyo., and then on U. S. 20 to the park. The entire park is open June 20 to Sept. 13 and $3 a car is charged. Earlier or later than these dates, only limited accommodations are available.

If you're in a hurry to get home and don't mind western "paved" roads, take route 10 from the park to Minneapolis and 14 to Chicago and Route 30 from Chicago Heights directly to Marion.

But, says Mr. Baldwin, Glacier National Park is only a jump to the north, so why not go? Take route 10 from Yellowstone to Missoula, Mont., then 93 to Kalispell, then U. S. 2 to Glacier park. U. S. 2 will go through the park and bring you out on Route 89 at Browning, Mont.

To get home, continue on 89 to Great Falls, then 87 to Billings to Shackleton, Wyo., then on 14 to Rapid City, S. D. Within a few miles of Rapid City are the Black Hills, Wind Cave national park, the Bad Lands, the Rushmore monuments carved out of the mountain side by Gutzon Borglum.

Bad Lands Area

From Rapid City take 16 west to see the monuments, the Black Hills and Wind Cave. Then returning to town, take 16 east to Wall village and go south on an unmarked road to the Bad Lands, also a national monument. By going a few miles farther south through the Bad Lands you can see Indian reservations as large as several counties.

After passing through the Bad Lands you will come out on state route 40 which joins 16 again a few miles east. Continue on 16 to Austin, Minn., drop south from Austin on 218 to Wheelers Corners, Ia., join U. S. 30 and follow it directly to Marion.

If you wish to avoid detours on 30 in Illinois, follow 30 from Wheelers Corners only to Cedar Rapids; then take 161 to Mt. Pleasant and from there U. S. 34 to Galesburg and 150 on to Peoria, Ill. From Peoria take U. S. 24, a splendid new highway, to Huntington, Ind., and 224 to Van Wert and route 30 to Marion.

10 Teams Play Near Here Sunday

STEAM SHOVEL NINE TO MEET BELLEVUE; TWO TEAMS ON ROAD

Independents Play Little Sandusky; Commercials To Visit Byhalia Club.

Diamond activity for the week-end will find city teams and other clubs from this vicinity in action on home and foreign fields. The only game scheduled for Marion, according to the early announcements, will find the Marion Steam Shovel A. A. aggregation host to the Bellevue Merchants on the Uncapher avenue diamond, Sunday afternoon.

Two Marion teams are traveling out of the city, the Marion Independents invading Little Sandusky and the Commercial Steel Castings club visiting Byhalia. The newly organized Mt. Gilead Independents will play the first game of the season by entertaining Fredericktown at the Neal avenue field in Mt. Gilead. Cardington's independent team will play on its home diamond entertaining the Grandview Independents in a Sunday afternoon contest.

Shovel Practices

Marion's leading independent ball club, the Marion Steam Shovel nine, will take to the practice field tonight for a final workout in preparation for the visit here Sunday of the Bellevue Merchants. The Diggers have won two of three starts, suffering the single defeat at the hands of the Bucyrus Sozonian Vault club last week, by a 9 to 5 score.

Bellevue will furnish strong opposition for the M. S. S. outfit and the invaders come here with a record of two victories in four starts. Bellevue was edged 7 to 6 by Clyde, lost 6 to 3 to the Sandusky Eagles and trounced Toledo, 6 to 2, and White's Landing, 7 to 1.

On the roster of the Bellevue team are several players who have had wide exprience in hardball. Charles Cupp of Toledo University was the college's leading hitter during the spring season just past. He plays at first base for Bellevue. Don Swartz, catcher, was with the Sandusky team in the Ohio State league and several other players have had college and semi-pro experience.

Marion Won In 1936

Last year when the teams clashed late in the season Marion triumphed by a 1 to 0 score, and the Diggers will be out to repeat their performance Sunday. Bill Darnell, manager, will lead the M. S. S. outfit in the effort to turn back the invaders. The tentative line-up of the Marion team for Sunday's game is, Hannaha ss, Marshall 3b, Detwiler rf, Shoup 2b, Griffith c, Neimeyer cf, Robbins lf, Ballinger 1b, with Darnell or Fetter on the mound.

The Shovel-Bellevue game is set for the Uncapher avenue diamond and will get underway at 2:30 o'clock. Others games scheduled for the M. S. S. club to be played in the near future are Johnstown here June 20, Falter Packers of Columbus here June 27, Crawline Eagles here July 4, Kenton Reds here July 5.

TOUGH TWIRLING TRIO

I'LL PUNCH PRESIDENT FRICK IN THE NOSE -- I'LL TAKE ON ALL THE SPORT WRITERS AND MOP 'EM UP! OOPS -- LOOKS LIKE A FIGHT STARTING -- SO LONG -- I GOTTA GO---
GR-R-R- I'M A WILD MAN -- I'LL BUST UP THE JOINT.. DID ANYONE MENTION BUCHER?
ERRORS! ERRORS! ALWAYS WHEN I'M PITCHING! IT'S DRIVING ME CRAZY!
DIZ
FERRELL
--NOW SHOWING-- THE POP-OFF PITCHERS -- DEAN, MUNGO & FERRELL

DIZZY DEAN'S screwy exploits are, of course, known to all baseball bugs, but the demented Diz is not the only diamond daffydill.

Following in the enlightened traditions of such nationally known nitwits as Rube Waddell and Bugs Raymond, we now have Violent Van Mungo and Wesely (Fierce) Ferrell.

Like Waddell, Raymond and, of course, Dean, Violent Van and Walley Wesley are pitchers of the pop-off species. Maybe there's something about moundwork that just naturally attracts screwballs. Probably it's the fact that pitchers only work about once every four or five days, thus escaping the every-day grind of the average player. That only proves that the tossers are not too "tetched in the haid," after all.

But to get back to our screwy slingers: Dean's temperamental outbursts seem to be getting more so than ever. He was so wild with rage over an umpire's decision in a recent duel with Hubbell that he nearly pulled a Wes Ferrell. (Aside to the unlitiated: Wes Ferrell's favorite trick is to walk off the mound in a huff and leave the game despite managerial orders.)

Since the Hubbell debacle Dean has been popping off with a vengeance, denouncing President Frick, the umpires, the sport writers and anybody else that he happened to think of. Dean is very pugnacious vocally, but whenever a fight is about to start, he runs, does not walk, to the nearest haven of safety.

Violent Van Mungo's dizzy interludes are said to be caused by his Brooklyn environment. A few weeks ago he almost tore down a hotel and caused a good-sized riot when he put on a wild man act after imbibing too copiously.

DRAKE'S TAVERN TO PLAY KENTON TODAY

Drake's Tavern softball team is scheduled to entertain the Kenton Armory squad tonight on the Garfield park diamond. The game will begin shortly after 6 o'clock. The Tavern team traveled to Mt. Gilead Tuesday night, but rain halted the contest at the end of four innings with the Marion team leading 15 to 2. Francis Robbins started on the mound for the Drake club and is expected to get the initial assignment tonight.

MANY BIDDING FOR NO. 1 ROOKIE TITLE OF 1937 IN MAJORS

Bob Feller Pushed by Cleveland; Yanks Back Spurgeon Chandler.

By International News Service

NEW YORK, June 11.—Nominations are now in order for the title of champion rookie of 1937.

There was general agreement last year that the Yanks had the prize baby in Joe DiMaggio, their sensational outfielder, although there were a few dissenting voices from St. Louis where the Browns put in a very good claim for their busting beauty—Beau Bell.

The Yanks again claim to have the No. 1 rookie in Spurgeon Chandler, the right hander with the fast low ball, who in his first three starts gave up only one earned run and scored two successive shut-outs over the hard-hitting Indians and White Sox.

The Indians believe their Bob Feller will prove to be the best of the young crop if his arm comes around.

Mickey Cochrane offers not fewer than three for your consideration—George Gill, Clyde Hatter and George Coffman—and all of them look good.

Connie Mack holds a wonderful hand with George Caster, Almon Williams, Edgar Smith and Luther Thomas, who have helped keep the A's in the early season running.

Roger Hornsby has only Bonetll but he thinks the young man may be a big winner before the year is out. And Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox asks, how can anybody overlook my Stratton and Rigney.

Over in the National League, the Giants are strong for their left handed rookie, Cliff Melton. The Reds have three fine young aces in Grissom, Moore and Vander Meer. The Pirates are high on Bauers. The Bees offer a strong argument for Lou Fette and the Cubs are justly proud of Shoun and Bryant. And even the Dodgers can not be kept out of the debate with their Hamlin and Eisenstat.

Every one of these youngsters has shown plenty of stuff and their respective managers believe they can't miss being successful.

Braddock Happy After Winning Court Decision

By The Associated Press

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 11—James J. Braddock, as ready today as he ever will be to defend his world heavyweight championship, plunged into his final 10 days of training with not a worry on his mind.

The last troublesome load was lifted yesterday when the federal circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia refused to overrule Judge Guy L. Fake's decision against Madison Square Garden corporation which sought an injunction to prevent Braddock from meeting Joe Louis in Chicago.

From now on until the night of June 22, when Braddock faces his Negro challenger, he will go through his conditioning paces merely to retain the edge he has attained. Including today, just seven boxing programs remain on Braddock's schedule. The 30 or 35 rounds of boxing still listed as unfinished business will be only to sharpen his judgment of distance and speed him up. He says he is "Ready" now. He plans to go through the balance of his training as simply as possible to avoid danger of going stale.

Whatever fears Braddock's handlers have of the champion leaving his fight behind in his training camp dissipate after watching him work. His daily routine of roadwork or boxing, is of such light nature that no adverse consequences are expected. Seldom does Braddock tear into his ambitious sparring mates. Never has he tried to knock them out or hurt them. Sometimes he tears into them, lashing out with left hooks or right crosses, "just to keep the feel."

The white sign advising "no boxing" was up yesterday as the champion took a day off. He did nothing except walk nearby wooded trails and play nine holes of golf, turning in a neat 46. He was so happy after receipt of the news that legal moves against him were finnally blocked that he predicted he would knock out Louis before the finish of the eighth round of their scheduled 15-round bout.

RECORD WHEAT CROP FORESEEN

Nation's Yield Expected To Be Between 825,000,000 and 850,000,000 Bushels.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—Government crop experts predicted yesterday that the U. S. wheat harvest this year would be between 825,000,000 and 850,000,000 bushels —the largest in six years.

Not since 1931, when 941,674,000 bushels were harvested, has there been such a crop.

The predicted yield would be well above last year's 626,451,000 bushels.

Based On June 1

The estimate was based on June 1 conditions ascertained by the federal crop reporting board from 40,000 farmers. It was somewhat below earlier predictions of private grain trade experts, who forecast 875,000,000 bushels.

Recent rains and warm weather greatly improved crops and pastures, the federal board reported. It said conditions were near average except in the great plains area.

"So far as can be judged from the acreages planned and reported condition of the crops now growing," the board said, "the outlook is for about average production of the principal food, feed and forage crops."

Prospects for fruits were reported "slightly better than usual for this season of the year."

The board estimated winter wheat production at 648,307,000 bushels. This compared with last year's crop of 510,013,000 bushels and the five-year average of 623,220,000 bushels.

Stem Rust Noted

The federal experts said stem rust, a plant disease which often has reduced wheat yields, had been observed in Kansas and Nebraska fields, but available information indicated "the infection is not severe as yet and any material damage to winter wheat from this cause will be confined to late wheat."

Speculative markets had advanced as much as 5 cents a bushel earlier this week on reports of rust damage and threatened damage.

Although the board asserted it was "still too early to forecast accurately the spring wheat crop," it said acreage intentions and June 1 conditions "point to a crop between 175,000,000 and 200,000,000 bushels."

Drouth reduced spring wheat production last year to 107,448,000 bushels, while the five-year average was 241,312,000 bushels.

Larger yields this year than last also were forecast for rye, barley and oats.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—Victor F. Zahodiakin has built a machine to outdo the canaries in protecting man against gas explosions.

The birds do it by fainting. This protects miners. Zahodiakin says his machine can smell where birds won't go, to protect school children. His mechanical smeller is a compressor pump. It sucks air, through small pipes, from suspicious places.

If gas is escaping, the smeller brings it in before the concentration becomes explosive. The compressor concentrates it sufficiently to burn. From the compressor it runs to an unlighted jet. Alongside is another jet, lighted. The idea is that the unlighted one will catch fire too if there is any gas. Then the pair, by the heat they generate, can shut off the gas.

BOSTON, June 11 — Western grown wools were slow in graded lines today and only moderately active in original offers.

Good French combing fine territory wools and good 12-month Texas wools in original bags were available in sizable volume at 95@97 cents, scoured basis, although several houses were firm at higher quotations.

However, occasional offers of small quantities were reported at prices under 95 cents. Buying was rather scattered and prices were governed largely by the urgency of buyer's needs.

STOCKS SLUMP IN SLOW TRADE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 11—Bearish forces had things much their own way in today's stock market and leading issues dipped fractions to 2 or more points.

Dealings were at a crawling pace throughout.

Wall Street inclined to attribute backwardness of the list to growing labor disputes, especially in the steel field, and to fears corporation revenues may be cut drastically in the next few months if unionization wrangles continue to impede production.

High-grade bonds did better, but secondary loans were without recovery vigor. Commodities were uneven, with the majority down.

Accentuating the gloom in the financial district was a drop by General Motors to a new low for the year. Chrysler also backed away.

In the sliding column were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Wheeling Steel, Republic, Inland Steel, American Steel Foundries, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Anaconda, American Smelting, Westinghouse, and Baltimore & Ohio.

Holders of General Motors apparently were disturbed by sporadic labor outbreaks within the automotive industry despite contracts with unions.

Chilling the rails was a much more than seasonal recession in last week's freight loadings believed to have been largely the result of industrial strike disputes.

Helping to bolster individual issues were figures indicating backlogs of unfilled orders in many industries will provide important impetus for activity in these lines during the summer season. Some companies were understood to have unfilled orders of record proportions for this time of year.

PLAINTIFFS REST IN WILL CONTEST

Present Nine Witnesses in Trial of Action Over Mrs. Barbra Drake Estate

The plaintiffs in the suit among five children of the late Mrs. Barbra Drake of south of Caledonia rested their case shortly before noon today after offering the testimony of nine witnesses to a jury and Judge Hector S. Young in common pleas court. The defendants had called Charles Drake, executor of the will of Mrs. Drake, to the stand before noon recess.

The suit is in contest of the codicil to the will of Mrs. Drake and was brought by Mrs. Lavina Coulter, Mrs. Amanda Hipsher and Frank Drake against the executor and Anna Dell Drake, the two children who will benefit by the codicil.

Most of the testimony for the plaintiffs has attempted to show that the deceased was incompetent at the time she made the codicil, which was dated less than two months before her death in August of 1934.

All the plaintiffs took the stand yesterday afternoon and also called Joseph May of Caledonia. Testifying for the plaintiffs this morning were County Recorder Paul Naher, John Brown of Caledonia, Dr. M. F. Anthelm of Caledonia and Dr. Baker of Kirkpatrick.

The codicil takes out of the will a debt of $500 allegedly owed Mrs. Drake by Charles, it substitutes Charles as executor in the place of the National City Bank & Trust Co., and delays equal distribution of a 150-acre farm among the children for six years. The codicil gives the farm for that period rent-free to Charles and Anna Dell.

The defendants, represented by Milo L. Myers of Marysville and French Crow and Homer E. Johnson of Marion, have subpoenaed 17 witnesses. William P. Moloney and George T. Gocan are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

GAST WILL LEAVE HOSPITAL SATURDAY

Probate Judge Oscar Gast of 137 South Prospect street will be removed Saturday from the City hospital to his home, it was decided today. He is showing continued improvement from gastric hemorrhages and an additional day's hospital care was favored. Plans yesterday were to move him today. Visitors will not be admitted for several days after he is taken home.

Donbaugh of 283 North State street struck a parked car at 146 North Greenwood street, belonging to LeRoy Cramer of 147 Olney avenue, last night about 10:50 o'clock, according to a report to police. Donbaugh told police he lost control of his car when something apparently went wrong with the steering apparatus. Both cars were damaged about the front end.

SCOUT BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Cubbing Program and Plans for Jamboree Trip Are Discussed.

A joint meeting of the executive board of the Harding Area council of Boy Scouts and officials of the Marion district was held last night in the scout office on East Center street. D. T. Mills, county school superintendent, talked on "cubbing," the Boy Scout program for youths 9 to 12 years of age.

Mr. Mills pointed out that cubbing is not in any sense junior scouting but is a separate program scientifically planned by nationally known educators, psychologists and doctors to meet the needs of this age group. It is a home centered and neighborhood program giving boys things to do in their own neighborhood and backyard, he said.

After the discussion led by G. A. Holland on the steps to be taken in Marion for the promotion of the cubbing program, Mr. Mills was named as chairman of the cubbing committee for the Harding area council. District chairman are to be selected in each county in the area.

Arthur S. Brooks, area scout executive, reported that the Harding area jamboree troop, will report to Camp John A. Owens Sunday, for the start of their pre-jamboree training period. The troop, he reported, will have a part in the regional pageant to be given the evening of July 1 in the area at the Washington monument in Washington, D. C.

Each council in region four, composed of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, will have one merit badge subject for display in the exhibit and the Harding area council will be responsible for the insect life merit badge display, Mr. Brooks said. A request to exhibit the same material has been received from the Ohio State fair officials.

It was announced at the meeting that a final "send-off" camp fire program for the scouts who are attending the national jamboree at Washington, will be held next Wednesday night at Camp Owens. The troop will entrain from Bucyrus on June 28. The leaders in charge are Dr. E. S. Chapman of Mt. Gilead, scoutmaster and H. E. Acker and Karl D. Bechtle, both of Marion, assistant scoutmasters. Dr. Frank R. Mann, council president, was in charge of the meeting.
